Overseas Pay Eliminated in Some Areas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara today eliminated special pay for duty overseas for about 375,000 enlisted men, mainly stationed in Western Europe and Hawaii.

In an order, McNamara designated more than 100 countries, islands, and specific places within certain Western European countries, in which some 225,000 U.S. servicemen remain eligible for overseas pay, based chiefly on undesirable climate, isolation, and lack of normal community facilities.

Officers are not affected, since they have not been receiving extra pay for overseas duty.

The loss of overseas pay in some cases will all but cancel out gains under the general military pay increase just voted by Congress.

Acting under authority granted by Congress in that pay bill, McNamara eliminated the old across-board foreign duty pay system and inaugurated a new arrangement.

This provides rates of special duty pay, as it is called, ranging from $8 a month for the lowest rank of enlisted men to $22.50 a month for senior non-commissioned officers.

This is the same range paid under the old foreign duty pay scale.

Nuclear Pledge Could Come Soon

By LEWIS GULICK
AP Diplomatic Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A public U.S.-Soviet pledge against launching nuclear-armed satellites could be arranged as soon as next Thursday, when President Kennedy sees Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, U.S. sources said today.

This would be a follow-up to the agreement in principle against orbiting nuclear weapons just announced by the U.S., British and Soviet foreign ministers.

American sources said the definite form of a Washington-Moscow pledge has yet to be worked out, but the most likely procedure is to have U.S. and Soviet governments issue separate but parallel statements.

Army Colonel Takes Control in Honduras

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP)

Col. Osvaldo Lopez Arellano took over one-man rule in Honduras today after toppling President Ramon Villeda Morales in a bloody revolt. He said the nation is calm.

The commander of the armed forces announced in a proclamation his army took over to end Communist infiltration, administrative disorganization and political unrest.

Driven into exile by Thursday's military uprising, Villeda Morales landed in Costa Rica Thursday night. With him was his candidate for the presidency in the Oct. 13 election, Modesto Rodas Alvarado.

The military coup apparently was staged to forestall the election of Rodas Alvarado, who long has tried to subordinate the autonomous military to civilian control in Honduras.

Lopez Arellano announced he is taking over as provisional president, apparently deciding against a junta.

An army communiqué said 21 persons were killed in Thursday's fighting in this sleepy capital. Six were soldiers. The others were described as civilians. These civilians, presumably, were the civil guard, a 2,500-man semimilitary force the president organized in 1959 after a previous uprising. The regular army has 5,000 men.

The guard, which fought the army in the streets of Tegucigalpa, for several hours Thursday morning, has surrendered throughout the country, the communiqué asserted.

The army earlier had said that the opposition reportedly was forming small groups of guerrillas in the countryside around this capital. The latest communiqué said, however, these guerrilla groups had vanished.

As dawn broke today, the capital was calm. Stores reopened. The only soldiers in sight were troops around government buildings.

Patmos Area Seeks Telephone Change

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A group in the Patmos area in South Hempstead County asked the Public Service Commission today for a hearing on how the area can get adequate telephone service.

The request came in a letter from Hempstead County Rep. Talbot Field Jr., who said he had been contacted by C. P. Drake and others in the Patmos area who were dissatisfied with service they are now receiving from Southwestern Tel. Telephone Co.

Field said he was told that the Patmos area gets only eight-party telephone service and some customers are interested in setting up a telephone company under the Rural Electrification Administration.

40 MOP Freight Cars Derailed

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Forty freight cars and two diesel engines derailed in the North Little Rock Missouri Pacific yards today during a switching operation early today.

A railroad spokesman said there were no injuries.

Mo-Pac's "Big Hook," a giant railroad crane, was working today to put the cars back on the tracks.

The spokesman said the operation probably would take eight hours. Business in the broad-scale switching yard was not held up.

The cause of the derailment was not learned immediately. "Something may have given way on one of the cars," the spokesman said, "but we won't know for sure until we get down at the bottom of the stack."

Hurricane Is Near Bahamas and Dangerous

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Flora, which retraced a trail of devastation across Haiti, smashed the eastern coast of Cuba Thursday and barreled toward the Bahamas, apparently as powerful and dangerous as ever.

The U.S. mainland was not threatened for at least 48 hours, and perhaps not at all, the Weather Bureau said.

Flora flailed the Caribbean nation of Haiti all night with winds up to 140 miles an hour.

Communications were broken and no damage reports were available. But damage was expected to run perhaps as high as in October, 1954, when Hurricane Hazel left more than 400 dead.

Damage to the U.S. enclave in Communist Cuba, the naval base at Guantanamo Bay, apparently was light since there was ample warning and precautions were taken.

The 3.5 million Negroes on Haiti also had ample warning, but many of them live in flimsy huts—no protection against hurricanes.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Flora left devastated Haiti in her wake today, thrashed into the windward passage and began battering the eastern tip of Cuba's Oriente Province.

For nine hours Thursday night and today, Flora pounded Haiti with 140-mile-an-hour fury. The Negro nation was left isolated from the world, with all communications out.

At 11 a.m. (EST), the hurricane was just off mountaintops Oriente Province. Her top winds, which had dropped to 115 miles an hour over Haiti, had steamed back up to 125.

Gordon Dunn, chief storm forecaster in the Miami weather bureau, said it appeared that the hurricane might spend all day over Cuba. If it does, it would be greatly weakened when it finally re-enters the Atlantic.

However, regeneration of the storm still would be likely over open water and the Central Basin.

Longshoremen in Canada Are Out on Strike

MONTREAL (AP)—Approximately 3,800 longshoremen in three St. Lawrence River ports walked off the job at 8 a.m. today, a step expected to have an immediate crippling effect on Canada's efforts to move wheat and flour purchased recently by Russia. The strike is intended to force demands for higher pay.

Seventeen six-man gangs began picketing entrances to Montreal Harbor as early as 6:30 a.m., but a few night gangs continued working right to the deadline.

The strike started at midnight in Quebec City and Trois-Rivières and spread to Montreal today.

It was the first strike called by the International Longshoremen's Association since 1936.

Negotiations between the association and the Shipping Federation of Canada, with Montreal Judge Rene Lippe as mediator, were to resume at midmorning.

One source said some slight progress was made Thursday night. But he said progress was coming far too slowly to raise hopes of getting the men back on the docks quickly.

Canadian grain men hope to move some 60 million of the 210 million bushels of Russia-bound wheat through the St. Lawrence before the river freezes. But a reliable informant in Ottawa said the government would not intervene directly in the dispute yet, preferring to risk some disruption in shipping rather than upset the collective bargaining process.

Although the prospective delay in the shipment to Russia was attracting most attention, shipping circles said the loss of other business would be much more serious.

Prieto Quints Still in Hospital

MARACAIBO, Venezuela (AP)—The Prieto quintuplets, 27 days old today, will be kept in the hospital for at least two more months, their doctor reports.

Dr. Regulo Pachano said Thursday night the five boys are in good health but they will remain in the hospital to assure them of adequate medical attention. All are still in incubators.

Their mother, Mrs. Ines Maria Cuervo de Prieto, 34, will be kept in the hospital for about two more weeks, the doctor said. She was reported in good condition.

Indonesia Tests Guided Missiles

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Indonesian antiaircraft forces tested newly acquired guided missiles at an unidentified location Thursday, the air force announced.

A top-ranking air force officer told the official news agency Antara the missile can shoot down any type of plane.

The air force did not say what country had supplied the missiles, but earlier reports indicated they came from the Soviet Union.

President Simply Ignored Remark by Governor

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Apparently untroubled by Gov. Orval E. Faubus' criticism of his civil rights program, President Kennedy told an Arkansas audience the "New South" will contribute to greater equality of opportunity or all Americans.

Faubus introduced the President Thursday at the dedication of Greers Ferry Dam near Heber Springs. He advocated states' and individual rights and said it is a constitutional wrong to abridge these rights "even though the effort to abridge or destroy may masquerade as civil rights."

The President, sitting five feet from the governor, didn't react to the remark. Nor did he answer Faubus in his speech dedicating the dam, part of a system of hydroelectric and flood control dams in the White River Basin.

But an hour later at the Arkansas Livestock Exposition in Little Rock, Kennedy told an integrated audience that equal rights for all citizens is "the grand objective of all our progress and policies."

He said he hoped, "This state and others like it will associate together to provide a fairer opportunity to all Americans."

"This great new South contributes to a great new America and you can look forward to the day when we shall recognize no South, no North, no East, no West, but one nation, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

At Heber Springs, Faubus praised Kennedy as a great conservationist. Kennedy responded with a promise to do even more in the field of natural resources. Kennedy returned to Washington Thursday night.

Negroes Make Demands on the Mormon Church

By R. GREG NOKES

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Negro leaders told officials of the Mormon Church Thursday night that unless they meet certain demands, Negroes might picket the 133rd church conference which opened here today.

A spokesman for the Negroes said they want the church to go on record in support of President Kennedy's civil rights program; to back civil rights legislation in Utah, and to endorse "the principle of equality of opportunity for all Americans."

The demands were presented at an hour-long meeting between officials of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints and representatives of the Utah chapter of the National Association for Advancement of Colored People.

Members of the NAACP will vote tonight on whether to picket the conference.

The demonstration, if it takes place is tentatively scheduled for Saturday evening at Temple Square.

A Negro spokesman who attended the meeting, but who declined to be identified by name, said the church officials indicated they were not likely to go along with NAACP demands.

Negroes are regarded by the church as descendants of Cain. They are admitted to membership in the church, but are barred from the priesthood, into which members of other races are freely admitted.

Officials say any change in church attitude toward the Negro must come as the result of revelation from God.

U. S. Counters Harassment

BERLIN (AP)—The U.S. Army has flown 20 more men into the enclave of Steinbocken to counter harassment of the U.S. patrol there by East German border guards.

For several days the guards have been throwing stones at the three-man U.S. military police patrol in Steinbocken, a 36-acre hamlet which belongs to the American sector of West Berlin but is surrounded by Communist territory.

DEDICATES DAM — President Kennedy, en route to dedicate the Greers Ferry Dam at Heber Springs, Ark., is greeted by Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus as the President arrives at the Little Rock Air Force Base. Faubus who emphatically opposes Kennedy's civil rights stand, chats with the President as he prepares to board a helicopter for Heber Springs.

Witness Says Christine Lied About Beating

LONDON (AP)—Christine Keeler's ex-business manager testified today she admitted to him that she had lied about an assault upon her by a discarded Negro lover, Aloysius "Lucky" Gordon.

The witness was Robin Drury, a 27-year-old expatriate Canadian, who told a magistrate's court he had Christine's own voice on a tape recording to prove what he said.

Christine, the 21-year-old playgirl who nearly upset the government in the John Profumo case, is accused with three other persons of framing an assault case against Gordon.

Gordon, 32, originally was found guilty and sentenced to three years in prison. On appeal, the verdict was voided. The present hearing is to determine whether Christine and the others should be tried by jury on charges of perjury and conspiracy to subvert justice.

Drury said the tape recording, intended to provide information for a life story of Christine which he planned to have ghost-written, was made about six weeks after her accusation against Gordon.

He quoted Christine as saying that on the night of the alleged assault—April 17—she was out with a girl friend, Paula Hamilton-Marshall, and two Negro friends, Clarence "Pete" Camacho and Rudolph Penton.

"She said they picked up another woman and brought her to the flat she was sharing with Paula," Drury continued. "When they arrived home the five of them had some sort of sex orgy during which the unknown woman got annoyed at Christine and beat her up."

"Later Gordon arrived and asked to speak to her. Christine said no and insulted him and he got annoyed and went to strike her. Miss Keeler told me he did not hit her, as Foulton or Camacho held him back and she ran."

Earlier in the hearing Miss Hamilton-Marshall's brother, John, 27, testified that he inflicted a cut eye and bruises on Christine in a battle at the flat before Gordon arrived.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.2 at 200.5 with industrials up 2.0, rails up .7 and utilities up .7.

Sperry Rand again seemed the most active stock by far but it backed away from a fractional gain and traded unchanged.

Chrysler also was heavily traded, showing a gain exceeding a point after being in 2 or more wide gains by the "glamour" issues were chopped back in some instances but IBM still held a 5-point edge. Gains of a point or better were kept by Polaroid, Xerox and U.S. Smelting.

Prices moved higher on the American Stock Exchange in fairly active trading.

Corporate bonds gained slightly. U.S. government bonds showed little change in slow dealings over the counter.

Venezuela Reds Declare War

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Venezuela's Communist party declared "open war" against the government Thursday night shortly after its suspension as a political party was upheld by the Supreme Court's political tribunal.

A party statement distributed to newspapers and congressmen called for a popular united front to oppose what it called Venezuela's military rule.

The tribunal decided 3-2 that President Romulo Betancourt's decree suspending the Communist party and its Castroite ally, the Movement of the Revolutionary Left, was legal. The two parties thus are barred from entering candidates in the Dec. 1 presidential and congressional elections.

Archbishop Beran was interned in 1951 for refusing to sign a declaration of loyalty to the Czech government. The Vatican learned this year that he was living at a monastery in southern Moravia.

His release left Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty of Hungary the last top Catholic prelate under personal restriction behind the Iron Curtain. With the release of the Czech archbishop, new efforts were expected to resolve the Mindszenty case.

Western observers considered the timing of Archbishop Beran's release highly significant. It came two weeks after a government shakeup which swept Stalinist Vilém Strojek, an enemy of Catholicism, out of the premiership.

Strojek played a key role in the anti-religious campaign which put all of the country's 13 Roman Catholic bishops and countless priests, monks and nuns into confinement after the 1948 Communist takeover and led to steady stagnation of religious life.

Pope John XXIII's efforts to improve the lot of Catholics behind the Iron Curtain eventually found a response in Czechoslovakia.

There was no indication either from the Vatican or from Prague whether Archbishop Beran and the four bishops freed with him would be allowed to go to Rome for the Ecumenical Council or whether they would be permitted to resume their diocesan duties.

Survival Center for Animals in the Bronx Zoo

NEW YORK (AP)—There's now a future in the lives of gnus, short-necked giraffes, mountain gorillas and other rare animals threatened with extinction.

The Bronx Zoo is preparing a survival center for them.

Fairfield Osborn, president of the New York Zoological Society, said Thursday the project will be called the World Wildlife Survival Center, and should be ready by next year.

He said the farm-in-the-zoo will be replaced by the center, which will occupy 22 acres—bounded by the Bronx River Parkway and the Bronx River.

The zoo farm animals will be sold, Osborn said.

Osborn, who just returned from a conservation survey in East Africa, said the main job of the new project "is to try and meet the survival crisis of these creatures in their own environment."

He added: "The secondary job is ours: to try and provide a reservoir for the endangered species and, if possible, to re-introduce stock in areas where the species has become extinct or in danger of extinction."

Osborn said the survival program is allied with the aims of the World Wildlife Fund, which has the support of Prince Philip, husband of Queen Elizabeth II. President of the fund is Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands.

Thousands Greet Kennedy at Little Rock

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—President Kennedy, untroubled by a civil rights jab from Gov. Orval E. Faubus, dedicated a dam at Heber Springs Thursday and talked of a "New South" with greater equality of opportunity for all citizens in a livestock show speech.

Faubus nicknamed the President at the Greers Ferry Dam by advocating states and individual rights and declaring it a constitutional wrong to abridge these rights "even though the effort to abridge or destroy may masquerade as civil rights."

Kennedy bypassed civil rights at the dam but, an hour later at the Arkansas Livestock Exposition in Little Rock, he called equal rights the "grand objective of all our programs and policies."

Kennedy said the nation is looking toward the day when "we shall recognize no South, no North, no East, no West, but one nation, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Several thousand persons saw the President at each appearance. Half a dozen college students carried signs at Heber Springs criticizing some Kennedy policies. Faubus drew a low chorus of boos at the livestock show. Otherwise the crowds were courteous.

The students told newsmen they were from outside Arkansas.

A Negro woman cried as Kennedy mounted the livestock show platform. "There's our savior."

Faubus praised Kennedy as a great conservationist in the welcoming speech at Heber Springs. Kennedy responded with a vigorous promise to do even more in the field of natural resources.

"We must preserve what we found for those who will come after us," he said. "We must use the vast resources of this great nation properly."

DOROTHY DIX

HER FRIENDSHIPS SOUR
By Helwörden Erskine

Dear Helen: For 10 years a friend and I were like brothers. I ate at his home, he at mine. Then he fell in love with a girl who didn't like me. However, I was invited to their wedding but evidently committed the unpardonable sin of taking my girl to see their new apartment before his fiancée's parents got a look-see. My date was rudely ignored and we left in a huff.

I told my chum I no longer cared to attend his wedding. He retorted that his girl had laid down the law. There would be no wedding if I did come! Nevertheless, kind-hearted me went to her home, wedding gift in hand and got the door slammed in my face. Just as I turned away my chum opened the door, grabbed my present and banged the door shut. Nary a thank-you note!

Eight years ago I befriended a young lady and we were as I'd say, brother and sister till last December when she got engaged. Everybody received an invite to her wedding but me. When I phoned to wish her well she hemmed and hawed about leaving me out but even then didn't say, "Come."

Last but not least there was this situation which culminated last night. I drove two young ladies lately arrived from England to a social event. It was deadly dull so I decided to take them home. They had already left! Today, on the phone, one of the girls accused me of deliberately forcing a dull party upon her to get even for the way the other girl had treated me—which was "not" true.

These three rebuffs, plus the fact that another friend is driving around on bald tires when I'm in the tire business, have got me down. By now I'm convinced that it doesn't pay to be kind, truthful or friendly. Right—B.

Dear B.: Wrong! You have magnified and distorted the significance of these four minor situations to the point where you are losing your own sense of values. Regardless of how a man is treated, or even imagines he is treated, by his fellow human beings, the virtues of kindness, honesty and friendship remain undisputed. The mean and selfish people of this world may seem to get away with little short-murder but in the end they are the ones who suffer. There is an irrefutable law back of this. There is no need to regret the loss of friendship with your disloyal chum and his rude wife. This sort of break-up often occurs when a man marries a girl who, for some hidden reason—perhaps jealousy, dislikes his friends. I'd say, "Good riddance!"

Your ex-girl friend was probably fearful of hurting you and upsetting her fiancé by asking you to her wedding. Give her the benefit of the doubt and don't lose any sleep over the outcome. You're a nifty guy, though in need of new tires, won't buy them from you. Perhaps he can't afford new tires or maybe he prefers another brand from the one you sell.

Your evidently make friends easily. Be a little more discriminating in your choice and cast off that persecution complex which you are rapidly developing before it corrodes your life. My ladlet, "Ten Commandments for Happiness," would be of help. A stamped, self-addressed envelope will bring it to you.

Dear Helen: I have a 9-year-old daughter who loves to write poems and is eager to become a poet. Where should she send her poems—Proud Mother.

Dear Proud Mother: There are nearly 350 juvenile magazines which might be interested in publishing your daughter's poems. You may obtain the complete list with addresses, circulation figures, and age levels, from Muriel Fuller, Box 193, Grand Central Station, New York 17, for $2. A few of the more outstanding ones

Cotton Picking Queen Selected

BLYTHERVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Bobbie Faye Gammel, 19, a shapely junior at Arkansas A&M College, was named queen of the National Cotton Picking Festival Thursday night.

Bobbie is 5 feet 5, 120 pounds, and she measures 36-24-36. She is president of the Alpha Sigma Tau sorority at A&M and was Miss Arkansas A&M in 1962, and was a finalist in the 1962 Miss Arkansas contest.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Gammel of Eudora. Fifty to 100 cotton-pickers com-are: Calling All Girls, Child Life, Children's Digest, Highlights for Children, Humpty Dumpty's Magazine, Jack and Jill, and Read Magazine.

I went to the supermarket to buy groceries and along with other items got six cans of beer. When checking out the checkout girl wasn't old enough, to sell the beer so she asked me to push the cash register yet she accepted the money. One seems as bad as the other. This sure did upset me. Was she right or wrong—Mrs. W.

Dear Mrs. W.: Your checkout girl was observing the law. As far as I know, there is no law as to who pushes the cash register. So, for your convenience and to save time, she did the right thing. It was so upsetting to you, get in line where the check-out person is clearly over 21 when you next buy beer at a supermarket.

Have you a problem Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The NIGHT, The WOMAN

THE STORY: Although Blake Carden believes that his brother Todd has not told the exact truth about the murder of Valerie Hayward, Blake is keeping silent about her death which has not yet been reported to police.

XVII
Blake reached his office at his usual time, 9:30.

He was at his desk, shuffling through the mail, when Jean came in. She stood looking at him curiously.

"Who slugged you?" He put on a smile and went through his false explanation again. She didn't stop looking doubtful.

"But you didn't take your brief case home last night. It was right there on that table when I came in this morning."

"All right. I tried to walk through a closed glass door."

"That's better, but not very much. Don't mind my saying so, but on the whole, closed glass doors aside, you must have had a pretty rough night."

"I did. The family hassle I mentioned. It's still not straightened out. I'm not sure about tonight. I'm sorry, but please don't count on it."

"Well, now," she said quietly. "If you stand me up again I may come looking for you. After all, I'm to be one of the family. I ought to be in on those squabbles."

With that she went out, leaving Blake squirming inwardly with the thought that she just might do it. That was all he needed, Jean mixing in.

He went on working, with half his mind on Val, until Jean reappeared, looking a shade more troubled than before.

"Lieutenant Barcello is here again. Right now he's borrowing the phone, talking to his office."

"As soon as he finishes, send him in."

Barcello was one man Blake would rather not see this morning. His reason for coming could not be Val; it must be more of that Gibbon business. Blake remembered Todd's saying last night, "George Gibbon? Never met him, never heard of him"—and that might have been another lie.

Detective Lieutenant Barcello came in with the same quiet step, the same warm and easy smile. In his pleasantly soft voice he said good morning. With his tawny hand he clasped Blake's gently.

At Blake's invitation he sat, and his glance around the office was an unspoken compliment. He gave his attention for a fraction of a second to the jump on Blake's forehead and after that politely pretended it wasn't there.

Blake opened. "Still looking for your absconder, Lee?"

"He's still on the loose, Mr. Carden, still hiding out somewhere along the beaches. We haven't enough manpower for an organized hunt. He hasn't been heard from again, but I've turned up an interesting connection."

"What kind of connection?"

"I don't know what kind—not yet. That's what I'm here to find out. If I can, it's with Mrs. Hayward."

Blake sat forward, startled. "To me that seems very unlikely, Lee. I told you yesterday, Val couldn't have had any dealings with Gibbon."

"Yes, you did tell me that, Mr. Carden. The connection between them could have existed without your knowledge, of course—except that it appears to include you."

"Me!" Totally unexpected, it threw Blake off balance. He steadied himself and went on emphatically. "No, Lee. Absolutely not. Look here. You've implied that I misrepresented myself to you."

"I'm sorry," Barcello said, and sounded it. "I'm very sorry, but I can't help that."

"And why can't you when the implication is not valid? I've never dealt with George Gibbon directly or indirectly. All I know about him is what I've learned from you."

"Mr. Carden," Barcello was still courteous itself, but his brown-black eyes were direct and searching. "Yesterday you withdrew $3,000 from your savings account, taking the cash in $100 bills. Two weeks ago, two thousand, also in hundreds. Please, will you tell me what the money was for?"

Blake had anticipated the question. He answered it flatly. "No. Personal matter. Not relevant to your case."

Barcello remained unruffled. "Now a small problem in addition. Gibbon sent his former employers $400 and his mother $200. Twice, going to a bank, he changed a $100 bill into smaller bills. So far it adds up to eight hundred. He must have kept some money on hand for living expenses—let's say two hundred, at a guess. It makes a nice round total, one thousand."

Blake said nothing.

"Now, on the day following your first withdrawal Mrs. Hayward deposited $1,000 in her checking account in the Pinellas National Bank in St. Pete. Cash—ten $100 bills. Add Gibbon and Mrs. Hayward together and we have the exact amount of your first withdrawal."

'64 Jet-smooth Luxury CHEVROLET

Besides looks, ride and power—what's so special about it?
(It's so reasonably priced)

Kind of leaves the high-priced cars some explaining to do, wouldn't you say? Long and luxurious—with a fresh-Christened look. Richer roomy interiors with subtle new blendings of colors and fabrics. Like the ultra-soft vinyl upholstery in the new Chevrolet Impala Super Sport Series.

A choice of seven engines, no less, with a choice of four smooth transmissions to go with them. And underlying it all, the opulent feel of this '64 Chevrolet's Jet-smooth ride.

Matter of fact, the most noticeable difference between this beautiful new 1964 Chevrolet and the high-priced cars is the price itself. Let your dealer show you how much luxury that reasonable Chevrolet price now buys.

Resistance Pockets Yet in Costal Rica

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP)—A few pockets of resistance were believed holding out in the little banana republic of Honduras today despite victory claims by military leaders who ousted President Ramon Villeda Morales in a bloody revolt.

The deposed president arrived by plane in Costa Rica Thursday night, landing at the Pacific Coast city of Punta Arenas. He was accompanied by Modesto Rodas Alvarado, his candidate for president in the Oct. 13 election.

The Honduran military overthrew Villeda Morales Thursday, apparently to keep Rodas Alvarado out of the presidency. As president of Congress for the past five years, he had worked constantly to bring the virtually autonomous army under civilian control.

Despite the military junta's victory claim, an army communique indicated civil guardsmen in two towns in western Honduras—Sahla Barbara and Ocoetque—were still loyal to Villeda Morales. A broadcast demanded their surrender.

Twenty civil guardsmen were reported killed and 50 wounded in a four-hour battle in downtown Tegucigalpa. The army reportedly suffered two dead.

The coup, coming eight days after a military coup in the Dominican Republic that ousted President Juan Bosch, caused new concern and repercussions throughout the Americas. It was the fourth such military takeover in Latin America this year and occurred despite a U.S. warning to Honduran military leaders that the United States opposes unconstitutional seizure of power.

The other coups were in Ecuador in July and Guatemala in March. Last year the military overthrew elected governments in Argentina and Peru.

Diplomats believe the next overturn could occur in Venezuela, where a terrorist campaign against President Raulo Betancourt might be used as the pretext by the military. Brazil is considered another trouble spot.

In Washington, there were indications the State Department was casting about for new strategy to attempt to dissuade further military coups in Latin America, where the United States has invested millions of dollars toward economic and social development under the Alliance for Progress program.

A State Department spokesman said relations with Honduras were in "a state of interruption."

In Washington, the council of the Organization of American States held an emergency session.

Nicaraguan President Rene Schick announced he was consulting with Presidents Adolfo Rivera of El Salvador and Francisco Orlich of Costa Rica on a joint policy toward the Honduran regime. El Salvador and Nicaragua are next-door neighbors of Honduras.

A Chamber of Commerce spokesman estimated that 90 percent of the city's 2,500 residents turned out for the dedication. All but a few stores closed so owners and employees could make the show.

Greens Ferry is the fifth of nine flood control and power projects authorized for the White River Basin. It spans the Little Red River three miles northeast of Heber Springs and contains a 50-mile reservoir that will reach to near Clinton.

Kennedy said such projects are a project of federal-state co-operation.

The President spoke warmly of the Arkansas congressional delegation. The two senators and four representatives were with him on the platform at Heber Springs and flew back to Washington in the presidential plane.

And Kennedy remained the polished politician. He noted that Sen. J. William Fulbright had supported the test ban treaty without remarking that Sen. John L. McClellan voted again it. He then praised McClellan for handling the Senate investigation of organized crime.

Kennedy called the Arkansas delegation the best "pound for pound" in Washington.

An 11 a.m. (EST) advisory from the weather bureau placed the storm center at latitude 19.4 north, longitude 74.9 west, or about 40 miles south-southeast of Guantanamo Bay and 575 miles southeast of Miami. It was moving slowly northwest at 7 miles an hour.

When the wild night finally ended, defenseless Haiti still was being pounded by torrential rains and destructive floods almost certainly were raging down her mountainsides.

A sad story was expected to come from this thickly-populated tropic country when communications are re-established. Forecasters were worried also about what is yet to come.

Forecasters said there is no threat to the U.S. mainland, about 500 miles away for at least two days, if at all.

The night-long battle with Haiti's mountains took some of the punch out of Flora, most vicious hurricane in two years. Its top winds had fallen from 140 to 115 miles an hour when it left Haiti behind and moved into the narrow windward passage.

It still was a well-organized storm, however, and once through the passage and into the open Atlantic could quickly regain strength.

A slowing in the forward movement of the hurricane left some doubt as to when it would get through the mountains of Cuba's easternmost Oriente Province and into the British Bahamas.

The big U.S. Navy base at Guantanamo Bay, a thorn in the side of Fidel Castro's Communist island, was expected to come through the storm in good shape.

A hurricane's winds whirl in a counter-clockwise direction, er and sophomore Charles Daniel start at quarterback, tailback, wingback and fullback, respectively.

The lack of experience showed in an error-filled 21-0 Arkansas victory over Oklahoma State and in the loss to Missouri.

Porkers Expecting a Stiff Battle

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Arkansas' senior-less backfield tackles vengeance-minded Texas Christian University Saturday in what shapes up as a stiff battle for both teams in their Southwest Conference football opener.

Field Goal Wins for the Shoots

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP)—A Texan booted a 35-yard field goal Thursday night to give the Arkansas Shoots a 3-0 victory over Southern Methodist's freshman team.

Marty Sikes of Jacksboro, Tex., kicked the field goal in the first quarter in what turned into a penalty-filled defensive battle.

The kick was Arkansas' only serious threat.

SMU's Don Ferguson attempted a field goal from the Arkansas 12 later in the first quarter. The Shoots were backed to their 20 in the third quarter before SMU lost the ball on a fumble.

Neither team crossed the other team's 20 any other time.

Houks Feels the Yankees Can Still Win Series

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS LOS ANGELES (AP)—"I don't believe in losing," Manager Ralph Houk of the New York Yankees said today, clamping down a bit harder than usual on the stogie he usually has in the corner of his mouth. "And I ain't gonna start now."

"Sure we can win. I always have the feeling we'll win. We certainly haven't played bad ball. We just haven't scored runs. Who do we get next? Drysdale? I got a feeling we'll start to do some hitting and some scoring. That's all it'll take."

Houk, the steel-tough ex-Ranger who hasn't lost a thing since he succeeded Casey Stengel as New York manager after the 1960 season, brought a grim, determined hand of Yankees with him when their charter plane landed here Thursday night after the flight from New York.

They acted as if they were a bit tired of rubbing Dodger egg off their faces and looked anxious to resume the series with game 3 at Dodger Stadium Saturday afternoon.

"I'd just as soon go ten with it," said Jim Bouton, the husky, hard-working right-hander who is Houk's choice to oppose the side-arming Don Drysdale. "I'm ready. I feel fine. Maybe there's a little more pressure now that we're two down, but I don't think that will bother me. I've always enjoyed pitching the so-called big game."

Houk said he has no plans to juggle his line-up and isn't about to panic over the American League champs' poor getaway.

"Somebody said something about us looking like Little Leagueers," he said. "Imagine that. The infield has played great ball in both games. Bobby Richardson has made four or five great plays and Tony Kubek has had two fine games. We let that pickoff against Maury Wills get away but

Alston Afraid to Talk, Houk Still Hopeful

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Strange are the workings of the minds of men.

Soft-spoken Walter Alston, his Los Angeles Dodgers riding the crest of a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven World Series, was afraid to talk about winning for fear of losing.

Pierce, forceful Ralph Houk, his proud New York Yankees still winless after two games with the Dodgers at home, insisted today his team will win the series although the next three games are scheduled for Los Angeles.

In the visiting clubhouse at Yankee Stadium after the Dodgers had whipped the Yankees 4-1 Thursday on top of a 5-2 opening triumph, it was suggested to Alston that the Dodgers' chances of a World Series triumph appeared a lot brighter with two games in the bag.

"It doesn't mean a damn thing unless we win two more," replied the cautious manager. "I remember back in 1956 we took the first two from the Yankees and they came back to beat us. No, anything can still happen."

Some 50 yards away in the Yankee clubhouse, Houk sat chewing away at a cigar contemplating answers to the questions hurled at him by the reporters.

"I'll tell you one thing," snapped the hard-bitten manager of the Yankees. "We haven't thrown no damn towel in."

The reply was in answer to a question how it felt to be behind two games to none and despite the ungrammatical expression the listeners got the drift.

"It would be foolish for me to say a team that had a 2-0 edge didn't have the advantage," added Houk. "But I still say we'll win it. We've been two down before and we won. And we've won four in a row many times before."

There is one major difference, however. The Yankees never have lost the first two games at home, and come back to win.

Up to now, as the teams prepare for the third clash here Saturday, it has all been the Dodgers.

The National League have flashed the stronger pitching and better speed, as advertised, and have provided the heavier hitting and more spectacular defense, as advertised.

It was Johnny Podres' turn to take the pitching laurels Thursday as the veteran left-hander stifled the Yankees with six hits until he left because of weariness after 8 1/3 innings. Ron Perranoski, the relief ace with the golden left arm, came in from the bullpen and shut the door on the Yankees after allowing a run-scoring single.

The Dodgers scored early, pouncing upon young Al Downing for a 2-0 lead in the first inning. Singles by Maury Wills and Jim Gilliam and the first of two doubles by Willie Davis, helped along when Roger Maris slipped and fell, produced the runs.

While Podres was mowing the Yankees down with precision, the Dodgers added to their total, scoring in the fourth on Moose Skovron's home run and again in the eighth when Tommy Davis followed Willie's two-bagger with a booming triple to the left-center field fence.

Unbeaten Will Meet in Pro Football Sat.

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The "big one" in pro football this weekend is the Saturday night battle at Cleveland of the two unbeaten in the Eastern Conference of the National Football League, the Pittsburgh Steelers and Cleveland Browns.

The Chicago Bears, undefeated leaders of the Western Conference, will be at home to the Baltimore Colts in one of the six Sunday games in the NFL. Green Bay, trailing by a game, takes on the winless Los Angeles Rams at home.

Y. A. Tittle and the New York Giants hope to close in on the Browns or Steelers by thumping Washington at Washington. Surprising Minnesota is at home to the strong St. Louis Cardinals in another big game.

Dallas and Philadelphia, two disappointing clubs that have not won, meet at Philadelphia; Detroit, loser of its last two, entertains San Francisco making its first start under new coach Jack Christiansen.

In the American Football League, the New York Jets defend their Eastern Division lead at the Polo Grounds against the Boston Patriots in a Saturday night game. Oakland will be at Buffalo on Saturday night. On Sunday it will be unbeaten San Diego at Denver and Houston at Kansas City.

We're still struggling with a 15-14-2 record. So here goes: All games Sunday unless otherwise indicated.

NFL
Pittsburgh 20, Cleveland 16—Saturday. That Steeler rush line may be tough for the Browns. It could be a field goal duel between Lou Michaels and Lou Groza.

Chicago 28, Baltimore 21—Bears, running a hot hand, are healthy. Colts will be missing Jimmy Orr but Johnny Unitas can make it tight.

Detroit 20, San Francisco 10—With John Brodie out of action, 49ers must go with Bob Waters or gamble on Lamar McHan, just acquired.

St. Louis 24, Minnesota 17—The Cards' good pass defense, plus the throwing of Charlie Johnson and the running of Joe Childress and Bill Triplett make the difference.

New York 35, Washington 28—The Redskins' pass defense still is leaky.

Green Bay 38, Los Angeles 10—Jim Taylor is a doubtful starter but the Packers have too much

Many Fans to Follow Cats to Malvern

The Hope Bobcats take on another conference foe tonight when they go to Malvern for a round with the highly regarded Leopards.

Outcome of the contest could give the Bobcats an idea of what they face when they tangle with the powerful Magnolia Panthers, currently leading the district standings.

Malvern blasted Crossett 20 to 6 but lost to Magnolia 6-0. Hope's only conference start was a victory over Smackover last week. The Bucks play Magnolia tonight. Thus the conference title picture should clear a bit this weekend, depending naturally, on the way the winners round out their season.

The Bobcats are favored to win. Malvern could step up a rung with a victory. From any angle the game should prove interesting.

Many fans will follow the Bobcats to Malvern.

Tech's Wonder Boys Journey to Magnolia

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Arkansas Tech's Wonder Boys, once-beaten in the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference race, go to Magnolia Saturday night to make war on Southern State.

Tech has lost to Southern State four times since World War II, and all four were at Magnolia.

"No matter what kind of team we've got, or what kind of team Southern State has," said Tech coach Shorty Salmon, "they always give us a hard time on their own field."

Despite the flair of Magnolia, the Associated Press picks Tech to win, 14-7.

In other AIC games Saturday night:

Arkansas A&M, the only unbeaten and untied AIC team, plays Mississippi College in a non-conference game. The AP picks A&M, 13-0.

Ozarks meets State Teachers at Conway, and the Bears' mighty offense should have a chance to really go against the Mountaineers.

Frank Koon's outfight should win, about 24-0.

Ouachita and Harding meet in another evenly-matched game. The Bisons have been impressive defensively this season, but four regulars are injured.

Because of the injuries, the nod goes to the Tigers, 7-0.

Henderson meets Memphis Navy tonight in a game the Redskins should not find too tough. Henderson is picked to win, 14-0.

Coonhunters Are Gathered

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Central Arkansas Coonhunters Association's first wild coon hunt has attracted entries from seven states.

The Saturday night hunt will be for pleasure only. No coons will be taken—just treed.

T. Q. Weiss, president of the association, said the hunt probably would be held in three counties—Saline, Faulkner and Lonoke.

for the rebuilding Rams.
Dallas 24, Philadelphia 21—Another upset here with the Cowboys finally clicking like they should.

AFL
Buffalo 20, Oakland 14—Saturday. The Bills cannot go on losing forever. Jack Kemp is reported ready for duty.

New York 17, Boston 13—Saturday. The Jets are steamed up to reverse that 38-14 opening game defeat.

Kansas City 21, Houston 17—a rematch of last year's title game.
San Diego 24, Denver 14—The Chargers are moving with a 3-0 record.

Rudolph Likes to Be Ahead in Competition

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Mason Rudolph doesn't mind being a front runner.

The 29-year-old Tennessean led the $125,000 Whitmarsh Open Golf Tournament today by a stroke after the first 18 of the 72-hole competition.

"I'm happy to take the lead anytime," he said Thursday after completing a 34-33—67 round, five under par for the 6,807-yard Whitmarsh Valley Country Club course.

"I like to get the lead especially in a rich tournament like this one because the prize money list is so long," he said. "If you fall you still are in the money."

Rudolph obviously wasn't counting the $26,000 first prize with only a one stroke lead over stocky Phil Rodgers of Perfidio Bay, Fla., and with the likes of Arnold Palmer, Gary Player, Jack Nicklaus and Julius Boros not too far back. Palmer, his right shoulder still aching with bursitis, shot a 70. Player and Nicklaus 71s, and Boros a 73.

Just behind Rudolph and Rodgers, tied at 69, were the veteran Gene Littler and two comparative unknowns, Rod Funseth of Spokane, Wash., and Jerry Pisano of Radnor in suburban Philadelphia.

Dodgers Fan Is 101 Years Old

LEWISTON, Idaho (AP)—Walt Alston and the rest of the Los Angeles Dodgers may not know it but when they take the field Saturday against the New York Yankees, Albert Moore of Lewiston, Idaho, will be in the stands. So what, you say?

Moore is 101 years old, a baseball nut and a Dodger fan.

He's also a Nez Perce Indian. You remember the Nez Perce and their leader, Chief Joseph, the legendary strategist who befuddled the U.S. cavalry for months in 1877 before being forced to surrender when overwhelmed by numbers.

Moore is one of four survivors of the Nez Perce wars.

He left for Los Angeles Wednesday by car to watch the Dodgers and probably will be available to manager Alston on matters of strategy.

Podres Seems Too Old But He Is a Student

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Johnny Podres seems too old and bald to be a student. But he's been attending Joe Becker's College of Rhythmic Arts, a dimly lit seatless classroom where you have to flunk a course to meet the entrance requirements.

But Podres is the second student to graduate with honors during the World Series.

Becker took Sandy Koufax to his classroom Wednesday and he went on to strike out a record 15 in a 5-2 Los Angeles Dodger victory. Becker took Podres there Thursday and the 31-year-old left-hander came out with a 4-1 victory over the New York Yankees.

Becker, the Dodgers' pitching coach, beckoned Podres when he came into the dugout after pitching the first two innings at Yankee Stadium. Podres had not allowed any runs, but had been anything but sharp. They made their way behind the Dodger dugout to the runway leading to the dressing room.

"Johnny didn't have any rhythm or coordination," said Becker. "He wasn't bringing his foot down right, and he wasn't getting enough hip in his pitches. As a result, his pitches were rising. I showed him what he was doing wrong."

"I was a little tense at the start," admitted Podres, "and after the first two innings, I didn't think I'd be around too long. But I went down with Becker, and I seemed to get squared away. I was hitting the spots real good from the third inning on."

Podres righted himself so well he allowed the Yankees only four more hits until, with one out in the ninth, he tired and needed Ron Ferranowski's relief help.

Podres said he was really tired after batting in the top of the ninth. When he came back to the dugout, he told Becker, "I've just about had it. Better get somebody ready."

Podres got Mantle on a long fly for the first out, then Hector Lopez lashed a ground rule double and Manager Walt Alston held a meeting at the mound.

"Alston said he'd let me stay in if I wanted to, but I told him to bring in a fresh pitcher. I was tired. I wasn't going to lie to him. I think if I told him I wanted to stay in he would have let me, but there's not much sense in being a hero."

Bork Tossing the Grid Record Out of the Window

NEW YORK (AP)—With quarterback George Bork throwing the ball, Northern Illinois College has been throwing the football record book right out the window this season.

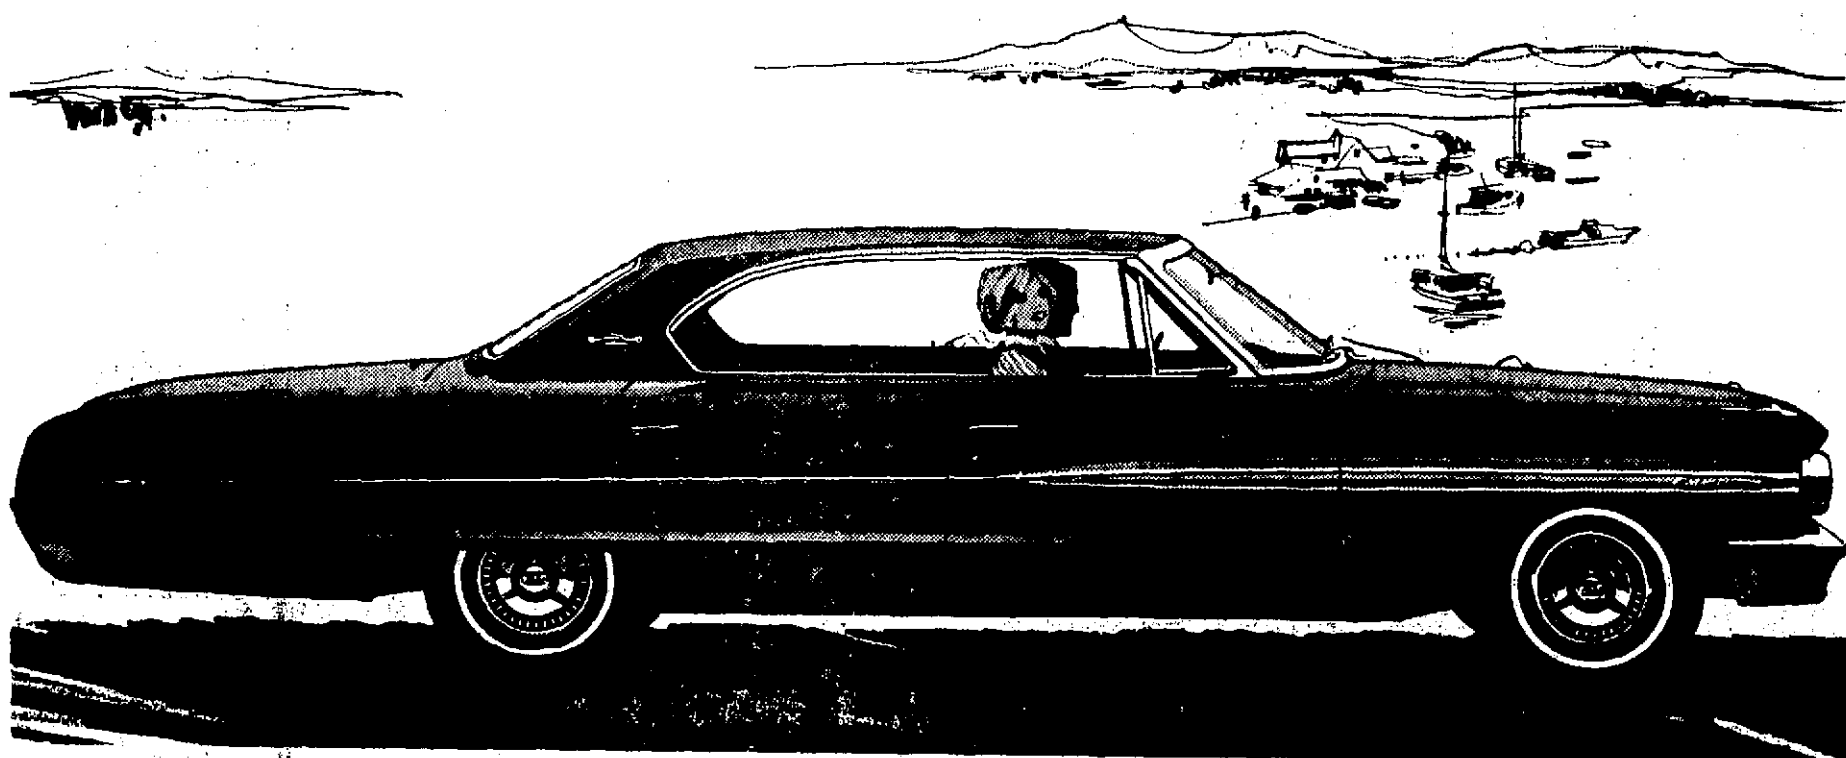

After three games, the DeKalb, Ill., team has passed for 1,129 yards—an average of 376.3 per game—and 14 touchdowns. This is a record not only for the NCAA small college division, in which Northern Illinois plays, but for all colleges.

Bork, a senior, has thrown most of the passes and senior ends Hugh Rohrschneider and Gary Stearns have caught most of them. Naturally they're at the top of the individual lists in the season's first college division statistics issued today by the NCAA Service Bureau.

Bork has completed 73 of 102 passes for 1,104 yards and 14 touchdowns. He has a .716 completion average. His total offense figures, also first, are 1,093 yards on 113 plays. Rohrschneider has caught 31 passes for 557 yards, and seven touchdowns, Stearns 24 for 335 yards and four TDs.

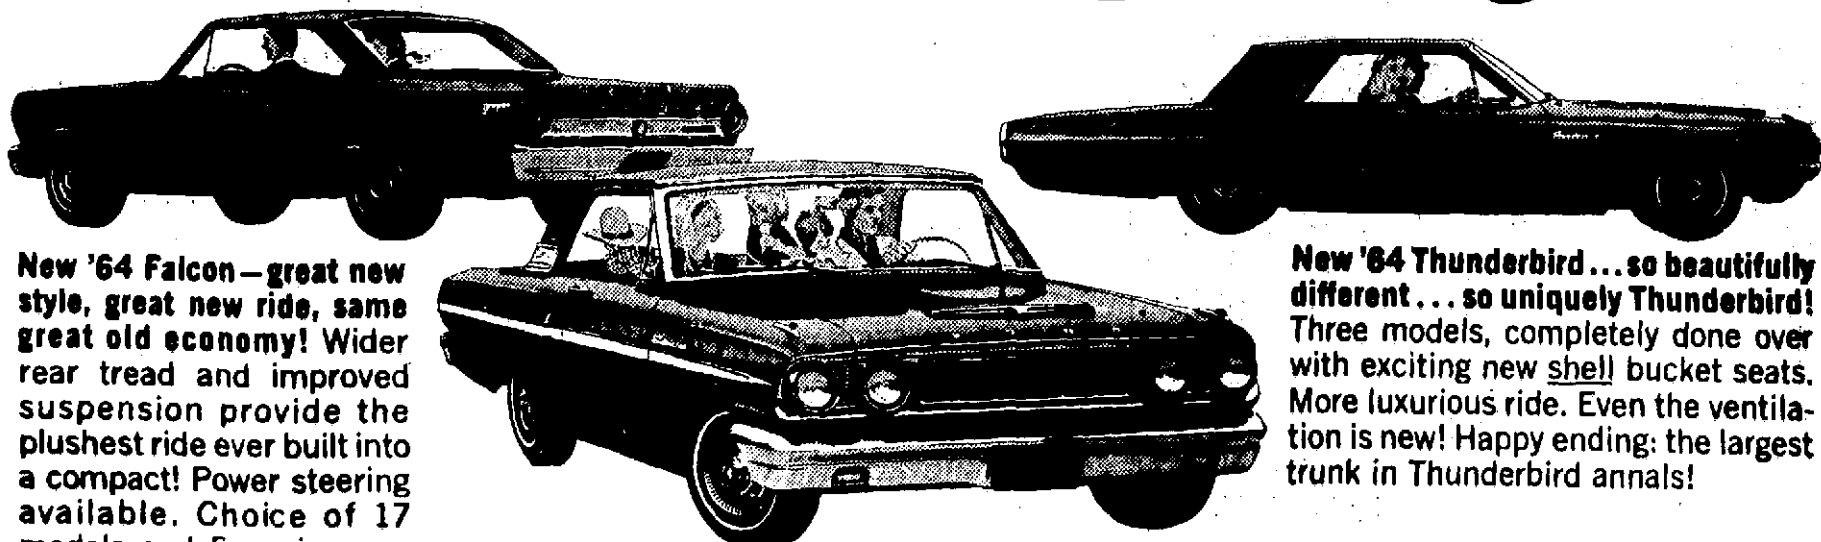

titlist, has been invited to play in the Mexican National Amateur at Guadalajara, Mexico, Oct. 8-13.

Sikes, the National Collegiate Athletic Association, also has played with the Walker and America Cup teams, played in the Masters twice and was runner-up in the last National Amateur.
